Proposed changes to Strata Plans

The CORSnet-NSW Project is a network of Continuously Operating Reference Stations (CORS). This presentation will outline the uses and benefits of CORS to the surveying industry. It will include information about the network rollout plan, the benefits of networked solutions and updates on the new CORSnet-NSW web portal. This presentation is also an information session about GNSS technology in general and its role in providing positioning options in the surveying profession.

- *Adrian White: Adrian is a surveyor with the LPMA and has worked with LPMA for several years as a geodetic technical surveyor. Adrian is currently involved in the CORSnet-NSW project as the Communications Manager, providing a wealth of technical knowledge about GNSS and its role in surveying.
